The actions of Robin Vos (Speaker of the Wisconsin State Assembly and president of National Conference of State Legislatures) represent an egregious violation of power and an obvious attempt to obstruct the completely warranted investigation into election fraud in Wisconsin.

This is what happened in Pennsylvania last year, and it worked to some degree, so this is not completely unexpected. It underscores the corruption which exists in both parties. Vos, like so many other Republicans, has allowed his hatred for Donald Trump's "America First" policies destroy his ability for critical thinking. I and others have found many issues with Wisconsin's 2020 election. The only way to address those issue is complete transparency in every aspect of how the election was handled - from the voter rolls to the final counting.

Every aspect of the election in Wisconsin shows exactly the kind of abnormalities that would show in the case of premeditated voter fraud, and if these issues are not permitted to be fully investigated with cooperation from both parties, they will destroy whatever confidence the good people of Wisconsin still have in their state government in general and their elections specifically.

The only way to restore this confidence is to allow the investigative process to continue to completion, and the findings of that investigation can then be dealt with in whatever fashion is appropriate.

If these findings, in the end, result in a finding of serious but “innocent” problems with the procedures and infrastructure of the Wisconsin Election Commission, then these processes can be quickly fixed in an open, transparent fashion. If the findings indicate intentional defrauding of the 2020 election, they can also be remedied in an open, transparent fashion that will satisfy the citizens of Wisconsin and properly fulfill the state’s constitutional duties to the nation.

I call on all Wisconsinites to examine the actions of Speaker Vos, Senator Bernier, and the others who are fighting so viciously against the investigation and ask themselves if these are the actions of people who are putting the interests of their constituents at the forefront - and indeed if these are the actions of those who are on the side of justice and truth.

The Lone Raccoon stands by the people of Wisconsin and stands ready to assist them in any way possible.
